The Life Sustaining Organs,

00 | 00 00 m 12

The two organs which minister most directly to the support of the body, are the stomach and liver. In the former the first process of digestion takes place, under the action of that power ful solvent, the gastrie juice. Thence the food, converted into a pulp, passes into the duodenum, where it is subjected to the action of the bile or gall, flowing from the liver, and of the fluid generated by the pancress, or sweetbread taken up by the absorbent vessels and conveyed into the channels of circulation in the form of venous blood, while the waste matter is discharged through the bowels. Unless all these processes are duly performed, disease of some sort is inevitable, and the best of all medicinal agents for preserving or restoring the tone and regulating the action of the three organ s-(the stomach, liver and intestines)-by which the three-fold work is carried on, is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Indigestion is generally accompanied by constipation, and the gentle cathartic operation of the Bitters is no less important in cases of this kind, than its tonic Beauty of person as well as health, depends in tors, &c no small degree upon the regularity of the erecrative functions. A sallow complexion,'a thick opaque coarse skin, a tainted breath, rush o blood to the head, loss of memory, headache, and extreme mental depression, are the usual accompaniaments of costiveness. A course of the Bitters will infallibly relieve, and finally banish these otnoxious symptoms, while invigorating the stomach and promoting healthy action in the liver. This genial vegetable stomachic and alterative, strikes at disease in its primary sources, Sexual Debility, and Impediments to Marriage

WHY IS IT THAT SO MANY CHILDREN die under the age of five years? That a large proportion of children die under that age, has long been a subject of remark, and without a satisfactory cause ascertained, it is certain.
